WAS A GREAT SUCCESS

MR. MACFARLAND'S IMPRESSION OF DISTRICT DAY.

"District day at the Jamestown exposition was a great success in spite of the weather." Commissioner Macfarland, in speaking of the Chamber of Commerce excursion to Jamestown, said today. "The arrangements made by the citizens' committee, of which Col. M. M. Parker was chairman and Mr. Edgar D. Shaw secretary, chairman and Mr. Edgar D. Shaw secretary, President Tucker, Secretary Sheppard and the other exposition officials did everything in their power to make the day notable and show us hospitality. Mrs. Donald McLean, who asked us to the New York state building; Gov. Swanson, Gen. Frederick D. Grant and others were very hospitable. The Chamber of Commerce contributed largely by the presence of its members and their enthusiasm toward carrying out the purpose of the day-to make the national capital and its possibilities better known to the country. People from many states were at the auditorium meeting and learned much that they did not know about the city in which they are all interested. Every time we get an opportunity to tell what Washington is and what ought to be done for it we strengthen the public sentiment in favor of sic and dancing afternoon and night. Cars leave Great Falls and Old Dominion rail-road, 36th and M streets.

its more rapid development and more liberal treatment by Congress.

"We knew nothing of the distressing loss of the young officers and men of the Minnesota until just as we were leaving Old Point Comfort at 7 o'clock last evening, when the news came over from the fleet. Washington suffers a special loss in the death of Midshipman Holcomb, one of the finest of the recent Naval Academy graduates, and we mourn with his family The Jamestown exposition is remarkably good, considering all the difficulties and obstacles which the courageous and indefatigable management has surmounted. It is very attractive now, and will be more and more so. The buildings are admirable and the general effect beautiful. The United States government exhibit is particularly fine. Mr. Geddes of the United States government board, which showed us many courtesies, escorted us through the government building, so that in a very short time we got a very good idea.

"I want to go back again to see more of the exposition than was possible in the ex-tremely limited time that we had, and especially to see the District of Columbia busi-ness men's exhibit and the District of Solumbia exhibit in the negro building when they are installed.'

EXCURSIONS.

Increasing throngs at Chevy Chase Lake attest the high place the resort has won in the esteem of Washington amusement lovers. There is diversion for everyone, young or old; there are facilities for bowling, shooting and rowing, and amusements that appeal especially to the juvenile, while of course all find pleasure in the splendid music of the Marine Band orchestra, which gives concerts every evening, Sundays included. That these corcerts are the "star" attraction is evidenced by the throngs that await the band when it appears in the stand each evening. At the conclusion of the program, at about 9, the pavillon becomes the great center of activities. ity, the dancers crowding the floor until 11, Admission to grounds and pavilions is with-

To handle travel to and from Jamestown, the Norfolk and Washington Steamboat Company has inaugurated double daily servvia its splendid steamers. Hereafter salling will be made at 8 in the morning and at 6:30 in the evening every day, Sundays as well as week days. Both day and night boats carry large passenger lists, but the day trips appear to be more popular, for the reason probably of the chance they afford tourists to view the scenery along the historic Potomac. In Hampton roads the steamers encircle the great assemblage of American and foreign warships, which constitutes one of the main features of the exposition. Southbound passengers are landed directly at the exposition pier, eliminating the the inating the delay and expense of crossing by ferry or trolley from Fort Monroe, or Norfolk. #### THE THEATER.

"The Maneuvers of Jane."

Beginning next Monday evening, June 17, the Columbia Theater Company will present "The Maneuvers of Jane," by Henry Arthur Jones, author of "The Liars," "The Masqueraders," "The Middleman" and other successful plays, with Miss Hilda Spong and Miss Charlotte Walker in the principal feminine roles. Few comedies have won more instantaneous approval than "the Maneuvers of Jane" when originally produced by Daniel Frohman's comedians at Daly's Theater, New York, in 1899, and the play needs little comment, as it made a decidedly favorable impression when the Frohman company presented it here first in May, 1900, and again in the following December with Miss Spong, then a member of the Daly Theater Company, in the latter

It is a comedy of bright dialogue and quaint characters. Jane's "maneuvers" are caused by her father's desire to marry her to a rich little fool nobleman, whom she despises. The laughter excited by the humorous incidents arising from her schemes to foil her father's wishes is merry and incessant, while there is no moment of relief to its comedy from the first going up of the curtain. The box office sale open tomorrow, with no departure from the usual prices.

"H. M. S. Pinafore." The selection for next week's presentation by the Aborn Opera Company at the New National Theater is made in deference to the pleasure of ladies and children. "H. M. S. Pinafore," regarded as one of the most successful comic operas ever written, is strictly the idol of a former generation, and has not been presented by many companies of standing during the past decade. Therefore, to the "little men and women" of today it is a brand-new comic opera, and the enjoyment that was their fathers' and mothers' years ago in this delightful composition is still in store for them. Its simplicity and clean, wholesome humor are additional qualities that make it appeal to the little ones. Indeed, it has been so thoroughly identified as a children's opera that it has been revived, time and again, by various juvenile opera companies, with signal success.

The other half of next week's bill is taken up with Mascagni's masterpiece, "Cavalleria Rusticana," one of the shortst, but also one of the most famous and popular, of the grand operas. The com-bination of these two operas next week will form an admirable matinee bill for adies and children, with just enough of classic music to satisfy the most fastidious and plenty of popular, catchy melodies and enjoyable comedy for those who like their entertainment in a lighter vein.

The usual list of favorites in the Aborn coterie will be cast for appreciative roles, including Robert Lett as Sir Joseph Porter, a whimsical character, in which this elever comedian will be in his element Karl Stall as the captain, Huntington May as Dick Deadeve, and others. A number of comic opera notables will also be added to fill out the big double cast, including Harold Blake, formerly of the Bostonians; Emilie Gardner, late prima donna with "Piff, Paff, Pouff;" Joseph Fredericks, the famous grand opera tenor, and Marie Horgan, the well-known character comedies

"The Private Secretary."

"The Private Secretary" has been selected by Edwin Arden as his next offering at the Belasco Theater, beginning next Monday night, June 17. This celebrated farcial comedy, in which William Gillette scored one of his first and greatest successes, has always been popular with theatergoers, but in some way it has been overlooked the past few seasons. Mr. Arden will give it a splendid revival. It is the story of how Rev. Robert Spalding, engaged as the prisecretary for a country gentleman, is left behind in the room of Douglass Catermole, a young fellow whose uncle wants him to sow his wild oats. Cattermole goes off in the country as the private secretary, while the clergyman is left in his place to encounter the anger of the irate discovering what a milk-son his supposed nephew really is. The irate uncle then goes to the country house where his own nephew is visiting as the bogus private secretary, and finds him just the sort of enterprising young rascal that he really wanted his own nephew to be all the time. Mr. Arden will be seen as Douglass Cattermole, and the full strength of the com-pany will be utilized. Edward Ellis will play the character role of the clergyman.

Luna Park.

This convenient retreat, with its wealth of novelties, has proven a source of delight to all who enjoy and appreciate the manifold amusements that go with a park perfect. The quality of the music and free vaudeville being presented reflects the general excellence of Manager Goodfellow's seasoned knowledge in arranging programs that please and command approval. That Haley's Washington Orchestra Band is more popular than ever was conclusively demonstrated during the rendition of the band's opening selection on Sunday last. Collectively the band as 1. stands today is without a peer, and the individual work of its solo musicians is worthy of special praise.

A feature included in the current week's bill is the Bird Carnival and Canine Circus, provided by that skilled trainer, Prof. Pamahasika. Never was there an animal act conceived that afforded such instructive and amusing features. To see the trained according to the see something that will create canaries is to see something that will create canaries is to see something that will create a lasting impression. Another concession that is getting considerable favorable comment is the theater, wherein the animated pictures are now being presented. In order that better rebeing presented. In order that better results might be obtained, a direct current has been installed, replacing the alternating one, and, as a result, a sharper and clearer picture is obtainable. # TELLS PATHETIC STORY.

Fifteen-Year-Old Lad Puts Up a Fake Tale of Woe.

Relating a most pathetic tale, a boy who said he was Joseph Henderson, fifteen years old, of Baltimore, Md., appealed to the proprietor of a local department store today for work. The boy was well-dressed and appeared to be a bright, intelligent youth, but, according to his own story, his life was one of misfortunes. He stated that his mother had died very suddenly few weeks ago, and that his father died because of grief for his mother two weeks later. That left him an orphan, he said, and he came to Washington to see's work. The lad was sent to Miss Estelle Foster, agent of the board of children's guardians, to whom he related the same story. He was escorted to the Working Boys' Home until something for him to do could be

Meanwhile the Baltimore police were communicated with, and Inspector Boardman was informed that the boy had run away from home and that his parents are very much alive and are worrying over his lisappearance. The mother promised to come here to take charge of him, but when he manager of the home to which the boy had been sent was communicated with, it was found that the boy had "cut" the hospitality and escaped. He is being looked or by the police.

HOLDS MEMORIAL SERVICES. Impressive Exercises of Century Lodge, Knights of Pythias.

Under the auspices of Century Lodge, Knights of Pythias, impressive services were held in Pythian Temple last evening in memory of members of the order whose deaths occurred during the past year. Addresses were made by William E. Andrews, auditor of the Treasury Department, and by E. P. Seeds, deputy auditor of the War Department. The grand chancellor, G. Frank Day, called the meeting to order. Twenty-nine electric light bulbs, one for each of the deceased members, were arranged in the form of a triangle, symbolic of the order, in the center of the stage, and as the roll of the dead was called all other lights in the hall were extinguished and the twenty-nine bulbs were turned out one at a time. Then, with the hall in total darkness, a quartet, composed of Misses Bertha Hansen and Estelle Gulick, and Mr. Richard Banking and Mr. Frederick Schaefer, with Miss Maria Hansen as ac-

Face and Feet Covered-Rest Broken, and Would Cry Until Tired Out-"Cradle Cap" Added to Baby's Torture - Tries Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment.

IMMEDIATE RELIEF AND SPEEDY CURE

"My baby was about nine months old when she nad rash on her face and feet. Her feet seemed to irritate her most, especially nights. They would cause her to be broken of her rest, and sometimes she would cry until she was tired out. I had always used Cuticura Soap myself, and had heard of so many cures by the Cuticura Remedies that I thought I would give them a trial. The improvement was noticeable in a few hours, and before I had used one box of the Cuticura Ointment her I also used it to remove what is known as "cradle cap" from her head, and it worked like a charm as it cleansed and healed the scalp at the same time. Now I keep Cuticura Ointment on hand in case of any little rash or insect bites, as it takes out the inflammation at once. Perhaps this may be the means of helping other suffering bables. Mrs. Hattle Currier, Thomaston, Me., June 9, 1906."
